

Kidnaper Is Hunted for Baby Theft

Ulster, N. Y., Nov. 3 (AP)—Six-week-old Stephen Komorek, son of a $100-a-week paper mill worker, was kidnapped last night by a man in a black coat, the infant's mother reported.

Mrs. Henry Komorek said a man with a hat down over his eyes stole the baby from his crib near the kitchen stove in their modest home in suburban Clayville. The couple's only other child, a seven-year-old son, was struck and killed by an automobile four years ago.

State police broadcast an alarm and patrolled roads. Woods near the village were being searched.

The 29-year-old mother told a reporter she didn't "know of any reason for the kidnapping."

The only possibility would be a money angle, she said. She added that she and her husband "have a new 1949 Pontiac and it has been rumored that we have money."

Komorek, 34, "averages $100 a week in wages" as a machine tender at a paper plant near their home.

Mrs. Komorek said she did not recognize the man who, she reported, fled with the child, in a black sedan. She described him as of normal height and weight.

She said she had fed the baby shortly before 11 p. m. and had put him in his crib. She then lay down on a couch in the parlor to await her husband's return from work. He was on the 4 p. m. to midnight shift. She left the kitchen door unlocked for him.

She told police that:

A few minutes later she heard a rustling in the kitchen but thought it was her husband. When hearing other movements, she called out, "Who's there?"

When there was no answer, she investigated and saw the man running out with the child.

The mother, barefooted, chased the man. She reported he ran up an embankment to a street, high-way (Route 8) about 100 feet from the house and jumped into an automobile. He drove north toward Ulster.

Komorek, who police said was notified at the plant, collapsed when he returned home. He later recovered.

Talking to a reporter, Mrs. Komorek said she and her husband "were up all night, hoping to hear some word."

She added:

"But no one has tried to get in touch with us."

Born on Sidewalk
New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—A six and one-half pound baby boy and his mother were doing fine today after the child was born on a Brooklyn sidewalk last night.

The expectant mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sedeksky, 38, collapsed as she was walking along the street. Three patrolmen spread blankets, then scooped out the infant until the arrival of a doctor and ambulance.

There wasn't time to take Mrs. Sedeksky to the hospital. So the baby was delivered by the doctor on the sidewalk.

Program Planned For Palsy Patients

Parents, Relatives Asked To Cooperate in County Plan

Parents and relatives of cerebral palsied children in the Ulster county area are requested to contact Mrs. George E. Clarke, Route 4, Box 49, Kingston, N. Y.

If they are interested in plans for a program to provide training and therapy for all children suffering from this condition. The building for such a plan has been secured.

Cerebral palsy is one of the foremost causes of crippling, but the true size of the problem is not yet known. Cerebral palsied children show marked improvement under skilled treatment and training. This treatment and training requires closely co-ordinated teamwork by specialized workers.

The cerebral palsied person is entitled to:

1. Good physical health, and the degree of utilization of his capacities which medical, surgical, and related professional knowledge can make possible.

2. Security within himself in his home, and in his community—a security founded on acceptance, and the recognized worth of the individual.

3. Play and participation in family, community and national life.

4. An education, academic and cultural, as well as vocational.

5. Training for a job within the limits of his physical and mental capabilities, and employment.

6. A constructive life, whether home, under sheltered conditions, or in the competitive world of business and industry.

7. Hope that he, as well as children of the future, through research will have the benefit of better health, social, educational and occupational services and opportunities than our present knowledge makes possible.

Senator Charges President With 'Double Cross' of Labor Unions During Yonkers Speech

Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 3 (AP)—In his major speech on labor issues, John Foster Dulles charged President Truman last night with blocking repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and committed himself to a new labor law.

The Republican candidate for senator wound up his biggest day of campaigning after 10 earlier appearances in suburban Westchester county—a traditional Republican stronghold.

Dulles gave himself only a light schedule today, with only one appearance planned, with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey at a big Republican rally tonight in New York city's Town Hall.

"It is true that Mr. Truman campaigned loudly on the promise to repeal Taft-Hartley which he denounced as a 'slave-law,'" Dulles told an A.F.L. group here.

"But when he was elected last fall, his secretary of labor and his congressional lieutenants double-crossed the labor unions."

"By means of this unscrupulous tactics, he prevented the Congress from passing a new labor law to take the place of Taft-Hartley."

"He wanted to keep Taft-Hartley on the books so he could denounce it again in the 1950 campaign for Congress and perhaps the 1952 campaign," Dulles said.

The Republican, an interim appointee to the Senate, is campaigning against former Governor Herbert H. Lehman, the Democratic-Liberal candidate.

In the same speech Dulles called for a new labor law to replace Taft-Hartley—minus the injunction.

"It should make certain that neither government nor management can rule labor through injunction," he said.

"It should guarantee the right of collective bargaining and continue the protective features in the present law that most workers want, whatever their leadership say."

"They want auditing of accounts of their unions. They want protection of their trust funds. They want insurance against Communist infiltration."

Dulles also plumped for expanded social security, a 75-cent minimum hourly wage, maternity leaves for government workers, and civil rights measures—including a federal fair employment practices act, anti-poll tax law and anti-lynching law.

Plans for Paris Meeting Stir Hopes for Unity in Europe

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP)—Plans for a Paris meeting of American, British and French foreign ministers stirred U. S. hopes today for greater economic and political unity in Europe.

American officials said the two-day conference might put new life into the movement toward that goal, in view of Secretary of State Acheson's apparent conviction that such unity is urgently needed now.

As a part of this issue, Acheson is prepared to press for inclusion of the new western German state in the European family of nations. He also is ready to discuss outstanding German issues—including the controversial plant dismantling program—in that light.

Acheson will fly to the French capital for the meeting with British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman. He hoped to be able to leave here Monday night with a small group of advisers and staff assistants. The exact date of the

Howland Avenue Resident Praises Mayor Newkirk

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and his administration received praise today for taking steps to correct the surface water problem which had existed on Howland avenue for several years. The praise was contained in an unsolicited letter from a Howland avenue resident, Miss Bertha Waterman.

Miss Waterman, who lives at 67 Howland avenue, wrote that on previous occasions when the matter was brought up she always got the answer, "It couldn't be remedied." When it was brought to the present mayor's attention, however, the situation was corrected, she wrote.

Miss Waterman referred to a condition at the intersection of Howland and Fairview avenues, where because of the low grade water would collect and run off on private lawns. The Board of Public Works this year drained this location, rebuilt the road bed and put in a new storm sewer adequate to carry off the surplus water.

The letter follows:

Human nature being as it is, most of us are quick to complain but slow in giving praise when it is due.

I am writing this letter to thank you, the City Engineer and the Board of Public Works, for the interest you have taken in correcting the surface water problem which has existed on Howland avenue for several years.

On previous occasions when the matter was brought up, it was the same old answer, "It couldn't be remedied, there was nothing to be done about it." However, when it was brought to your attention, you did do something about it.

I am sure that not only the people who live in this immediate vicinity but also the many persons who use this street, are very grateful to your administration for correcting this condition.

Personally, I feel that you, as our Mayor, have the interests of the entire city at heart. You don't just make good promises, you make promises good.

May I take this opportunity to wish you continued success?

Police Outbreak Closes Four Delaware Schools

Four schools in upper Delaware county have been ordered closed because of an outbreak of polio in the area, it was learned today.

Health officials said the schools were ordered closed because of four severe cases of bulbar polio among the county's 23 cases since the 1952 campaign, "Dulles said."

The Republican, an interim appointee to the Senate, is campaigning against former Governor Herbert H. Lehman, the Democratic-Liberal candidate.

In the same speech Dulles called for a new labor law to replace Taft-Hartley—minus the injunction.

10 Fighting Unions Give Opposition to Murray at Convention

Cleveland, Nov. 3 (AP)—Delegates to the C.I.O. convention re-elected today the job of amputating their rebellious left-wing was far from ended.

The convention, before adjourning last night, and tossed out two unions under leftist leadership—the United Electrical Workers and the Farm Equipment Workers.

The two unions, with a combined membership of about 470,000 merged last week but were thrown out of the C.I.O. for continued defiance of major policy.

The convention chartered a new union to compete with U.E.W.

The C.I.O., now definitely in the right-wing column, nevertheless may use considerable time to dispose of ten other unions headed by men accused of following the Communist party line.

The C.I.O. executive board met today to begin work on the problem.

The convention handed the board the question of the eligibility of the men selected by the ten left-wing unions to sit on the board under the amended constitution.

Reds Are Barred

The amendments bar Communists or their sympathizers from seats on the 51-man board, and authorize the board to expel any unions whose policies follow the Communist, Fascist or other line in conflict with C.I.O. aims.

C.I.O. President Philip Murray allowed no leeway in the case of Ben Gold, head of the fur and leather workers. Gold never has hidden his affiliation with the Communist Party.

Murray banged his gavel yesterday and announced that Gold just wasn't eligible to sit on the policy-making executive board because of his party card.

With the same officer union heads believed to follow the party line, it wasn't so easy. Each one was challenged by a spokesman for a right-wing union, and Murray referred each one to the executive board.

The 63-year-old Murray, elected to his tenth year as president of the C.I.O., promised officers would carry out the convention's program.

Will Act This Time

As for ridding the C.I.O. of its pro-Communist elements, Murray remarked, "This time we'll do it." At other C.I.O. conventions there was lots of talk and no action.

However, the delay in disposing of the issue started convention delegates speculating as to whether Murray now wanted to hang onto strong left-wing unions like Harry Bridges' Longshoremen and Gold's Fur and Leather Workers.

Bridges, who emerged from the convention as the top spokesman for the left-wing in the labor movement—if not in the U. S. generally—will have his credentials examined closely by a committee of the executive board.

Besides Bridges, these other left-wing nominees for the executive board were to be scrutinized:

Joseph Selly of the American Communications Association, Donald Henderson of the Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers, Joseph Jurich of the Allied Fishermen, Hugh Bryson of the Marine Cooks and Stewards, Abram Blaxer of the United Public Workers, James J. Durkin of the Office and Professional Workers, Morris P. Zol of the Furniture Workers and John Clark of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

Meyer Praises Work Of Police, Firemen

Richard Meyer, proprietor of Meyer's Jewelry Store at Fair and John streets, has highly complimented both the police and fire departments for the efficient work which the men did last Tuesday evening when a burst water connection in the office of Dr. Harold Mandell on the upper floor of the building flooded portions of the building, including his jewelry store.

The prompt action of Special Officer George Loughnan in discovering the leakage and the efficient manner in which the firemen spread protective coverings to save the merchandise and eliminate further damage from water, has brought high commendation from Mr. Meyer. Had not Officer Loughnan been diligent in his duties and made a careful inspection of buildings on his beat, Mr. Meyer said, the large Christmas stock in his store would have been very seriously damaged. Mr. Meyer plans to reward the police and five department members for their quick and effective work.

The Colonial Construction Company of this city submitted the lowest of two bids received Friday by the Board of Public Works for a contract for improvements to the city incinerator.

The bids were opened at a special meeting of the Board of Public Works at the city hall Friday afternoon.

Colonial Construction Company, of which the officers are Charles P. Vogel and Alex C. McKown, Jr., submitted a bid of $2,100 on the work, which includes the re-lining of the chimney and the installation of a flue connection.

The other bid was submitted by the American Chimney Corporation of Fourth Avenue, New York city, in the amount of $2,140.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, president of the B.P.W., referred the bids to a committee consisting of Commissioners John Egan and Walter Canfield and Consulting Engineer E. J. McCaffery for tabulation and study. Final award will not be made until the committee reports its findings and recommendations.

The project is the first of a three-phase plan to improve and expand operation of the incinerator on Wilbur avenue. Step two of the plan, as adopted by the Board of Public Works at a meeting October 26, will be the erection of a storage structure. Step three will be the construction of another furnace and combustion chamber.

Railroad Lays Off 1,115 Maintenance Men

Boston, Nov. 3 (AP)—The New Haven Railroad today announced the layoff effective November 9, of 1,115 maintenance and mechanical department employees.

Furloughing of 365 mechanical department workers, the announcement said, "is occasioned by completion of certain programmed work in the car shops."

The men will be called back "as needed." It added, as the New Haven gets back "traffic lost because of the steel and coal strikes."

The road said that 750 men who have been employed "in maintenance of way projects programmed during the summer months will also be furloughed."

Engineer-Evangelist

DAVID J. FANT

David Fant Will Talk Here Sunday

A year ago David J. Fant, retired railroad engineer-evangelist of Atlanta, Ga., was present at services in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. The Rev. William R. Peckham invited the former Southern Railway engineer to speak briefly to the congregation at the conclusion of his brief talk, it was decided that the "Ambassador on Rails," as he became known on the 160-mile run between Greenville, S. C., and Atlanta, Ga., would be called back to Kingston to conduct a regular service of worship.

On Sunday at 11 a. m., Engineer-Evangelist Fant will conduct the morning worship in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. He will be accompanied by his son, the Rev. David J. Fant, Litt. D., general secretary of the New York Bible Society. The Rev. Mr. Fant, Jr., was a college associate of the Rev. Mr. Peckham in New York City.

For 52 years the "Ambassador on Rails," now 61 years old, was in continuous service as a railway engineer until his retirement on September 23, 1939. During that time he traveled 2,500,000 miles. Railroad and preaching became one and on the front of his locomotive was a brass Bible, symbol of his celestial calling. Other engineers selected emblems of their fraternities, but Evangelist Fant's was the Bible.

Transportation will meet at our church at 5:30. The W.S.C.S. meets Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Sherman Elphinstone, 61 Spring street. Devotions in charge of Miss Hester Marsh; program will consist of a roll call of devotional gems from scripture, literature, and hymns. The Thank Offering will not be received until the December meeting. They will be received from new members at the morning worship service. The Every-member Canvass gets under way with a fellowship dinner in the church basement rooms at 6:30 p. m. on Wednesday. Loyalty Sunday will be observed next Sunday, Nov. 13, during the morning worship hour. All members are requested to reserve these two dates.

First Church of the Nazarene, corner of Elmendorf street and Willetts avenue, the Rev. Kenneth Peckham, minister—Sunday school at 9:45 with classes for all ages. Mr. Cubie will be representing the Young People's program at the District Camp in Beacon. Wednesday evening prayer meeting and Bible study with Joseph Davis in charge. Saturday evening at 7 the regular weekly "Showers of Blessing," radio program over WKNY. All of these services are open to the public.

Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livingston street, the Rev. Ernest L. Witte, pastor—Sunday school and Bible class at 9 a. m. Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., presentation of the educational pageant, "A Christian Sings." Thursday, 7:30 p. m., choir rehearsal.

ist Fant chose the open Book with the rays of John 17:17, "Thy word is truth" streaming from its pages. This emblem, presented by railroad officials many years ago, now hangs in front of his home in Atlanta where although retired from railroad work, the engineer-evangelist is still engaged in the Master's business. During his 52 years as an engineer no serious injury was ever suffered by any passenger committed to his charge.

David J. Fant, Jr., has written a book, "Ambassador on Rails," dedicated to his father's life work as a former railroad engineer and evangelist. It was at a revival meeting at Toxona, Ga., that Mr. Fant received "the call" and later when his engine broke down at Greenville he attended a missionary convention and determined most things in his life. He continued his work as an engineer but from his earnings "sent a subliminal" to the mission field in Mrs. Lucy Jones, who spent 31 years in central China under the Christian and Missionary Alliance, who was supported by the contributions of Mr. and Mrs. Fant.

Since taking up evangelistic work Mr. Fant has spoken in many cities throughout the country, although his principal mission has been work among the people of the south where he worked and preached.

The public is invited to attend the service Sunday at 11 a. m., at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church and hear Evangelist Fant's message.

Adult Education Program Popular, Enrollment Bigger

There is an increase of 60 in the enrollment of the Kingston adult education program this year over 1948, indicating that this program is becoming increasingly popular and useful. This increase is in the male enrollment, 60 more men having registered while there are five less women enrolled.

In November of 1948 there were 235 women and 120 men enrolled while on November 1 of this year there were 290 women and 229 men enrolled.

Hubert Federath, director of adult education, in the report states that because there were only two or three requests for English and social studies this year, these subjects are not being offered. Classes of eight are usually required to teach a subject. Four new courses are being offered this year for the first time due to popular demand. They are: Fundamentals of electricity for men and women; bookkeeping for men and women; bookkeeping for women; and bookkeeping for men.

Sun Deck May Be Built on Poreh Roof

It is a simple matter to convert the roof of a porch into a second-floor sun deck and the improvement would be one that the entire family could enjoy.

A railing around the outer edge of the roof would be necessary. A wooden balustrade would be sufficient, but for a larger and more expensive home a wrought-iron railing may be desirable.

Besides what structural changes may be necessary in the roof itself, all that would remain to be done would be installation of some suitable floor covering and provision of an entrance to the sun deck from the house.

To Apply Bronze Paint

Prepare the surface by painting with a metal primer. Mix the bronze powders with a special bronzing liquid or with a mixture of one part benzine to two parts of spar varnish and apply with a brush as when applying paint.

In-a-Line Kitchen

The in-a-line kitchen with the sink on one side with windows above for light, with the range and refrigerator on the opposite side is a good arrangement. You should allow at least four feet between the front edge of the sink and the front edge of the range. The range is best near the dining room door. Such a kitchen may be nicely arranged in a space eight by 12 feet.

THE WORCESTER

Economy is the keynote of this trim house, "The Worcester." By eliminating frills and non-essentials, the cost was held down to a minimum without skimping on basic construction. Space for an additional room is available in the attic, but this may be left unfinished when the house is built.

Home Designed to Cut Construction Bill

Plan for Four-Room Cottage Successfully Reduces Cost Without Involving Any Sacrifice in Structural Quality

To cut construction cost without sacrificing structural strength was the aim of the "Home of the Week" Plan Service in designing the simple, four-room cottage plan, called "The Worcester," which it introduces today.

Keeping over-all dimensions down to 31.6x28 feet and cubage to 19,000 feet, using stock materials and square framing, these were among the cost-reducing expedients.

The architects omitted the fireplace in the living room, thus saving two or three hundred dollars. Baseboards throughout the house are of four-inch material, instead of the more expensive six-inch size. Window and interior door trim is three-inch stock. Picture moldings have been eliminated and room ceiling height kept down to 7.6 feet. All of these items mean important savings for the builder.

Has a Full Basement
"The Worcester" has a full basement and an unfinished attic where, at some future time, an extra room may be created. The outside walls are finished with painted clapboards and the roof is surfaced with black asphalt shingles. The trim on the house is painted black to match.

A simple ell on the front of the house creates an entrance vestibule opening into the living room. This room measures 12.6 x 17 feet and is brightened by a double window on the front and a single casement on the side of the house. The long, unbroken wall spaces in the room will facilitate the arrangement of furniture.

In the long inside wall of the living room a door opens on a small hall space connecting with the other rooms. Stairs to the attic ascend from this hall and a linen closet is also provided in the hallway, convenient to the bathroom and the two bedrooms.

The larger bedroom, on the front of the house, measures 12.6 x 13 feet, has three windows and a spacious coat closet. The second bedroom is 9.6x11 feet in floor measurements. It also has a clothes closet. Two windows afford cross ventilation.

The kitchen, 11x14 feet in floor dimensions, is large enough to accommodate refrigerator, range and a breakfast set or breakfast alcove. One entire wall is filled with a long working counter, with cabinets above and below, and a sink centered in the counter below a window. A small service entry, opening off the kitchen, gives access to the basement stairs.

Insulation should be installed over all ceilings.

Plans Are Available
Complete plans and specifications for this house, "The Worcester," are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Providence, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Fireproof Insulation
Mineral wool insulation cannot burn because it is made of rock, smelter slag, sand and other mineral products.

Space in Many Homes Wasted

In Most Cases It Could Be Utilized to Very Good Advantage

No matter how carefully planned, it is doubtful if a house has ever been built in which the owner has not found ideas for more comfort and convenience after living in it a short time.

Waste space is discovered together with awkward arrangement of doors, radiators and other items. Seldom are there enough closets. And it is surprising how many bookshelves are needed.

All these shortcomings can be remedied with little labor and at low cost, often by the householder himself.

Doors Can Be Changed

For example, a door frequently can be hinged to the opposite jamb to open in a different direction and thus utilize space. A radiator can be swung around to give more wall area.

When it comes to utilizing waste space, the field is almost limitless. Most halls have an unused corner. Such a corner 18 by 24 inches will accommodate an eight linear closet extending from floor to ceiling. Two 4x8-foot sheets of 5/8-inch plywood, two-by-fours for framing, hinges and cupboard turns are the materials needed.

Space for Bookshelves
Jogs in walls and the spaces on either side of the fireplace are just right for bookshelves.

Hinged plywood shelves on kitchen walls provide extra work surface and when not in use drop down out of the way. In fact, the kitchen offers the greatest opportunity for utilization of space and almost every type of unit for attaching to the wall can now be bought at little cost in either metal or wood.

Every Home Has Room For Full-Length Mirror

Most women will welcome a long-length mirror and there is always a place in every home where such a mirror may easily be placed.

A door is an excellent place to put it. A long mirror may be put directly over the door by fitting a wooden moulding around the mirror and attaching it to the door. The moulding is made with a groove to fit over the edge of the mirror and any carpenter will be able to fit one in place.

Questions, Answers

Building Cement Wall

Q. How many sacks of building cement, assuming the standard sack to be about 90 pounds, would be necessary to construct a concrete basement wall eight inches thick, 84.6 feet long by seven feet high? Also the proportion of sand or gravel per sack, exclusive of foundation.

A. A recommended mixture for non-water-tight concrete walls is: One sack cement, three cubic feet sand and five cubic feet of stones of a two-inch maximum size. For the wall mentioned, measuring around 14.5 cubic yards (to which an allowance of 10 per cent, for wastage should be computed), the above 1-3-5 mixture will necessitate 73.6 sacks of cement, 230.8 cubic feet of sand and 398 cubic feet of stone.

Financing Repairs

Q. The house that I am considering buying needs quite a lot of repairs. Can the money to make these repairs be obtained by means of an insured mortgage?

A. You can include the cost of necessary repairs in a mortgage eligible for insurance by the F.H.A. Defective Safety Valve

Q. When my steam boiler blows off at 15 pounds, about one gallon of water comes out of the safety valve. Should that much water come out?

A. There should be no loss of water as a result of this venting of excess steam. Even the steam exhaust should be only of momentary duration. Possibly the valve should be repacked. It would be well to have a steam fitter examine it.

THESE WERE MANDATORY INCREASES OVER WHICH MAYOR NEWKIRK HAD ABSOLUTELY NO CONTROL!

THEY HAD TO BE PAID BY THE CITY. THE MAYOR COULD NOT ELIMINATE THEM.

$ 88,000.00 INCREASE	In the City's share of the county tax, including the City's share of building and equipping the cancer clinic.
$ 15,000.00 INCREASE	In snow removal costs because of the heavy snows of the winter of 1948.

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service
This is the last of a series of six articles that I have taken from Fred L. Karpis's new book, "Point-Count System of Bidding in Contract Bridge."

These articles have dealt with the new convention for showing aces and kings in response to an opening bid of two in a suit.

Mr. Karpis gives seven different responses to the opening two-bid in a suit.

1. With one ace bid the ace.

2. With two kings bid three no trump.

(a) With three kings bid three no trump and then four no trump.

3. With two aces bid four no trump.

4. With an ace and two kings bid the ace first and then jump to four no trump.

(a) With an ace-king of one suit and another king, jump in the ace-king suit first. Then bid four no trump.

5. With an ace in one suit and a king in another bid the ace first and then the king suit. If the king is in a suit bid by opener, jump when bidding the king.

6. If you have only one ace and it is in a rebiddable suit, bid the ace first and then rebid that suit.

7. Holding none of the above bid two no trump.

(a) With one king, first bid two no trump. Then you can bid the king suit if below game level.

Note: how interestingly this hand works out. North has responded with two no trump and then has shown his king of spades by bidding three spades. South does not blindly rush into five diamonds.

He can see that he has a losing spade, a club and a possible loser in hearts. But with North showing the king of spades and with East on the lead, South knows that a game is no trump is perfectly safe.

Six Czechs Hanged

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 5 (AP)—Six Czechs convicted as ringleaders of an alleged armed plot to overthrow the Communist-led government were hanged today.

The men were accused of preparing to lead a coup last spring. The government charged they were "just at the point of executing a well prepared revolt" when the police caught them.

Those hanged were: Josef Charvat, chief of Prague security police during the first republic; Dr. Jaroslav Brokovec, prominent attorney; Emanuel Cencik, Vratislav Polesny, Kvetoslav Prokes, and Vratislav Handa. The government charged the plotters were in league with a "western imperialist power."

Three Topics Are To Be Discussed

Nutrition, disease control and management of farm animals will be the topics at a conference of feed dealers and manufacturers and county agricultural agents in Newburgh on Thursday, November 10.

Dealers from Ulster county have been invited to attend the meeting, which starts at 1:30 p. m. at the Hotel Newburgh, according to William H. Palmer, Ulster county agricultural agent.

Staff members from the departments of poultry, husbandry and animal husbandry at Cornell University and of the New York State Veterinary College will take part in the daytime program.

The evening session beginning at 7 p. m. will be on farm credit in feed merchandising. A panel of two area feed dealers, an area banker interested in farm credit and a representative of the Production Credit Administration will participate.

A group dinner will be held at 6 p. m. Those planning to attend the dinner are asked to make their reservations in advance with Palmer at the Ulster County Farm Bureau office, 74 John street, in this city.

All Out for Mattress Fire

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—They had a fire at New York's huge Bellevue Hospital early this morning.

It being a hospital, the fire department came without sound of siren or bell, and it came in strength. There were five engine companies, two hook and ladder companies, a fire boat on the East river, a water tower, a fire patrol wagon, one deputy fire chief, 150 battalion chiefs, and several police cars. Oh, yes, the fire. A mattress burned in the nurses' quarters.

Taxpayers and Voters of the TOWN of ESOPUS

You have lost thousands in taxes by favoritism! Some property is assessed at 3% of value; other property at 80% of its value. We propose to fight for equal assessment for equal valuation, appraisal to be made by unbiased experts.

THIS MEANS:

1. HIGHER EQUALIZATION RATE.
2. MORE FRANCHISE TAXES FROM THE UTILITIES.
3. LOWER AND FAIRER TAXES ON REAL PROPERTY.

The Republican administration has known about this for years, but has done nothing about it until we exposed the situation. Now, they promise to do as we have proposed throughout this campaign.

After years of do-nothing, why these promises?

In 1949 the utilities franchise assessment was reduced $125,824. Their real property assessment was reduced $96,720. You received no reduction. Instead, your tax bill was higher because of their cut. COMPARE your 1948 and 1949 School Tax bills. Promises will not replace what you have lost through favoritism.

Republican Candidates

LAWRENCE D. CRAFT

Lawrence D. Craft, known to his many friends as "Larry" has served the town of Wawarsing as town clerk for the past five years, and on that record now seeks the office of supervisor of the town on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Craft's efficiency and high standards in the management of his office, plus his knowledge of town affairs and his interest in good government, makes him the ideal candidate the people of the town of Wawarsing should elect as supervisor.

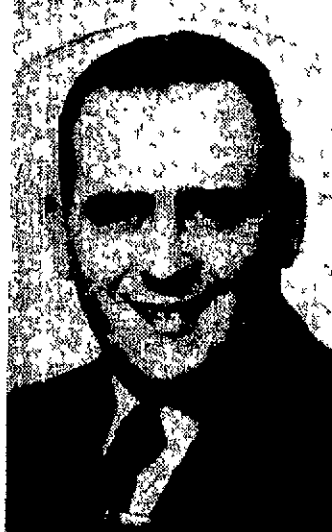

As a member of the majority party of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, he will be able to secure far more aid and services to the town of Wawarsing, services which are essential and necessary for the growth and progress of the town, and to which this town is the largest in the county, is justly entitled.

Election of Mr. Craft as supervisor will give the town representation by a man who is experienced, capable and able to work for the best interests of all of the taxpayers of the town.

Truman Speaks Tonight

Washington, Nov 5 (AP)—President Truman jumps back into the political arena tonight with a brief radio appeal to the voters of New York to back Democratic candidates in next Tuesday's special election. The President returned last night from what he jokingly called a "bipartisan" speechmaking trip designed to be "entirely pleasing to Minnesota Democrats."

In his five-minute talk tonight (8:30 p. m., EST) Mr. Truman will urge the election to the U. S. Senate of former New York Governor Herbert H. Lehman, and the reelection of New York city's Mayor William O'Dwyer.

WILLIAM H. SINSABAUGH

The Republican candidate for the office of supervisor to represent the Fifth Ward is William H. Sinsabaugh, a resident of that area of the city his entire life and who is favorably known to the people in that district.

He was born in the Fifth Ward on December 10, 1903, the son of Mrs. Wilmer Sinsabaugh and the late Wilmer Sinsabaugh.

He attended Public School 4 and later became a cutter in the Manhattan Shirt Co. He also was associated with the Fuller Shirt Co. During World War 2 he was employed by the Electric, Inc. and at present is again employed at Fuller's.

Fiaterally, he was elected governor of Kingston Lodge, 970, Loyal Order of Moose, in 1946. He also held the post of foreman of Cordts Hose Co., No. 8, in 1942.

The Republican candidate also is well-known throughout the city for his connection in the sports circles. He played with the old Brigham A. C. and Clermonts and basketball with the Congregation Church quintet in Ponckhockie. He was a member of the latter squad which copped the city championship in 1928 and 1929.

He is married and has a son who is now in his fourth year at Kingston High School.

His election at the polls next Tuesday will assure the voters of the Fifth Ward of continued sound government.

To the Voters of the Town of Esopus

Democrat Candidate Amasa "Bill" Smith has again displayed his ignorance of town affairs in a letter crammed with misstatements, which is being answered in brief.

1—Permission for the installation by the School Board of a traffic light in front of School No. 13 was obtained by Supervisor Cameron in his letter of July 21st, 1948, to the State Traffic Commission.

2—In regard to public utilities, the reduction granted on real property was actually 16% instead of 28% as recommended by the State, or a fair compromise under the circumstances inasmuch as they were over-assessed at a 44% rate. In reality, public utilities, under the reduced rate are actually paying better than 26% of the total taxes collected in the Town of Esopus.

3—The Ross Park mentioned in his letter, is held by a Park Corporation over which the Town Board has absolutely no control. The Town Auditorium is and always has been available to any organized young people's groups in the Town.

4—Smith points with pride to his four years as school trustee of District 13. In spite of the fact that he received more public funds than ever before, the school tax has doubled.

Miller Opposes Civil Service Bill, Heads Local Board

Leonard Miller, president of this city's Civil Service Commission, said today that he, as an individual, is opposed to adoption of the Mitchell bill, New York civil service bill to be submitted to the voters Tuesday as Constitutional Amendment No. 5.

He urged defeat of the bill on the grounds that it would discriminate against veterans. He emphasized that this was his personal opinion and not that of the board.

Russell Howard, secretary of the Civil Service Commission, said today the board as a whole has taken no official stand, as it is a municipal board and its duty is to represent all civil service employees. Each individual board member is free to draw his own conclusions on the bill, but the board will make no official recommendations.

The Mitchell bill, presently in the limbo of the legislature, places on veteran preference. Miller said today. Passage of the bill would mean replacement of the present constitutional provision for disabled veteran absolute preference, he pointed out, adding that it would also limit the non-disabled veteran preference to one appointment or one promotion.

Although the present constitutional provisions are "admittedly inadequate," the Mitchell bill is an undesirable replacement, he said. He urged voters defeat proposed Amendment No. 5 so that a more satisfactory measure can be passed at the next meeting of the Legislature.

The record of veterans in civil service has been an admirable one," Miller stated. To limit veteran preference as the Mitchell bill would do would be to punish those who spent in the service of their country several years during which they had preferentially have gathered valuable experience of education for civil service, he said.

The other members of the Civil Service Commission are George Dempsey and Thomas J. Finnerty.

Frank E. Hootnick, veteran banker who for 60 years has served the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Ellenville, since 1940 as its president, will retire Jan. 1, 1950. In making public the announcement this week the directors of the bank said that the retiring president had reported that because of his advanced age and physical limitations he would no longer be able to serve the bank in an official capacity. Voicing their regret the directors noted that this action "terminates a most unusual, perhaps unprecedented, period of continuous service by one man to a single banking institution. Mr. Hootnick went with the First Bank in 1880 as a bookkeeper, was appointed teller in 1891, became cashier in 1897 and was named president in 1940. Mr. Hootnick will be succeeded Jan. 1 by Benjamin H. Forwiler of Ellenville, for 29 years connected with the First National Bank of Woodstock and since 1944 its president. A native of Ellenville he is well known here and has taken an active part in civic affairs.

Like the old Ulster county fair, the Woodstock County second annual fall parade and party, Monday evening, proved to be "ill-fated and better than good."

Not only were there more school children in attendance—930 is the figure given—but five floats made their appearance in the parade this year. Liberty Square was packed, and then some, as spectators came early to witness the finale of the parade and view the program at the reviewing stand. A ramp had been erected on Canal street, in front of the stand this year, on which the unit prize winners took their places for the judges' decision. Judges for the parade were Herbert O. Hess, Tutuill McDowell and Mrs. Louis N. Zimmerman. Top prize winners (awards being in silver dollars) were: Robert Judson, dressed as a cabbage grand prize of $25; Carolyn Quick, made up as a scarecrow, second prize of $15; Betty Bruning, as Little Miss Muffet, third prize of $10. Major Thomas J. Hutton, chairman of the Noordeck Club committee, sponsor of the celebration; John C. Brain and A. W. Roberts were parade marshals and Robert V. Stapleton was master of ceremonies at Liberty Square. One of Mr. Stapleton's jobs during the evening was directing parents and small children under who had become separated. One youngster from a country district finally was taken home by a friendly neighbor who had come down for the celebration. Music for the parade and during the evening was furnished by the High School Band and Clayton's Military Band.

Brief ceremonies, with 28 adults and 140 children present, marked the formal opening of the Ellenville Youth Recreation Center Tuesday evening. Joel Balotin, chairman, was master of ceremonies and there were brief talks by Mayor Henry L. Schupp, Mrs. Fannie Lawson, field representative of the State Youth Commission, Leo Fassberg, chairman of the Spring Valley committee, Supervising Principal Thomas J. Duffield and Miss Monica Giovannello, president of the student committee. The Rev. George R. Hatt, dean of the local clergy, said grace before refreshments were served.

State Senator Arthur H. Wickes was noted among the some 600 guests present at the formal opening of the Mitchell House, bar, grill and restaurant last week. During the evening Joseph Chandler, proprietor, was presented with a wallet, gift of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Kingston Post-Warriors Chapter, O.E.S., will entertain the members of Wawarsing Lodge, F. & A. M., at its regular meeting Monday evening. All Masons are invited to be present.

The annual Armistice Day services of Cook-Taylor Post, American Legion, will be held Sunday evening at 8, at the Hebrew Aid Synagogue on Center street. All veterans' organizations are invited to attend. The speaker will be Rabbi Jacob I. Nislik.

Exhibits are being shown in a number of store windows and in the Ellenville Public Library.

MODENA

Modena, Nov. 5.—The "Salute to Modena," in a series of broadcasts of places of interest in New York state, on the early morning program of Jack Sterling Tuesday morning was not met with favorable reports by local hearers. Unfortunately, the salute was given on the first anniversary of the change of the radio station to WCBZ from WABC and the story was long drawn out, interspersed with hilarity that was tiring, weather reports, world news and "corny" singing. A few "colorful" characters were mentioned and a mournful rendition of Eber Coy's Town Supervisor pro tem, favorite song given. All in all, it was not worth while of early rising, and the program was reminiscent of Kansas in August.

Had to Leave Factory

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—A Brooklyn zipper factory was still closed up tight today, but the sit-down strike was over. Fifty-one court orders were handed to 51 strikers yesterday in a mass process-serving at the National Fastener Corp. plant. The workers, who hadn't budged for four days, filed out when Union Organizer Sol Kramer said they'd have to go. The 51—including 12 women—are all members of Local 475 of the United Electrical Workers, the union just expelled from the C.I.O. as left wing. The total number of employees on strike is 130, the union said. It said they walked out when the company turned down a 10-cent hourly wage increase and other demands. The company says it has suggested an incentive pay plan to speed up production.

STOP THE STATE PUBLIC HOUSING SPENDING SPLURGE!

ON ELECTION DAY ON PROPOSITIONS 1, 2 and 3

END THE PUBLIC HOUSING FARCE!

Spending goes on, but the slums still stand

A PROGRESSIVE HEADACHE
The propositions and what they would take from Your Pocket

PROPOSITION ONE
This provides that the State could, in any one year, enter into new contracts requiring subsidy payments for State Public Housing projects aggregating $2,500,000 instead of the present limit of $1,500,000 a year.
This is a key proposal and would permit a "speed up" in the spending of your tax dollars. It adds a million to the limit of the "gift" subsidies the State may hand out annually to FINANCE and PAY FOR projects built with your tax dollars.

PROPOSITION TWO
This would boost from $13,000,000 to $25,000,000 the amount of annual subsidies to be made available by State taxpayers for State Public Housing, every year—for 50 years.
This one has a real catch in it. It fails to explain that these subsidies—every dollar of them—must be matched by local communities that enter into State Housing program contracts. The doubling of the subsidy layout boosts the limit for any single year to $50,000,000—instead of the $25,000,000 limit supposedly fixed by the proposition.
Thus, over a 50-year period the cost of subsidizing the State Public Housing program could reach the astronomical sum of $2,500,000,000.

PROPOSITION THREE
This would authorize an increase in the State debt of $300,000,000 for State Public Housing. This would be added to the $435,000,000 already authorized for such purposes since 1938.
This one is quite clear. It proposes to swell the "pork" in the Public Housing "pork barrel" building fund to the $735,000,000 mark. This will give the Public Housers a further lease on life AT YOUR EXPENSE.

How Public Housing Works

The State lends money ($435,000,000 has been authorized to date) to the municipalities of the State. So far, 53 projects have been built, are under construction, or have been approved.

Then the State gives the local authority most of the money to pay it back, over a term of 50 years. A total of $650,000,000 is authorized for that. Then the local government must "match" the State "gift", by cash or tax exemption. That is another $650,000,000.

This permits tenants to live in public housing at half-rent or less. What the public housing tenant does not pay, the taxpayer must. There is no magic to it.

The Public Housers Want More!

But that's not enough to satisfy the professional public housers. At the General Election, there will be three "Housing Propositions" to vote on.

Housing Propositions 1, 2, and 3 will let the State lend $300,-

000,000 more and give away $12,000,000 additional each year for 50 years to pay it back, and require $12,000,000 a year in local tax exemption for the same number of years.

The total cost to New York State taxpayers will come to an additional $1,200,000,000... This would make the grand total—present and potential—$2.5 billion.

This probably would not be so bad if (1) it really cleared slums or (2) housed the poor or (3) increased the supply of housing. But it does none of these.

1. The slums we still have.
2. Families with incomes up to $4,900 are accepted, but the neediest can't get in.
3. Houses are being built as fast as labor and material permit. Public housing contracts merely drain material and labor from private contractors.
